MP3 OTRCAT 32:23

In this public Audition show, the parts of Dr. & Mrs. Hall are played by Gale Gordon and Edna Best. Although I really like and have tremendous respect for these two actors, I don't feel their performances hold a candle to those of the Colman's.

Also in the cast: Herbert Rawlinson, Gloria Gordon, Herb Butterfield, Willard Waterman, Lee Millar, Norman Field and Leo Cleary.

ANNOUNCER: Don Stanley

MUSIC: Henry Russell

87055B "DR. HALL'S REAPPOINTMENT" AUD 06-23-49 :20:00

This Audition show uses the same cast and partial story line as the one of 6-22-49. This is a private audition, however, for the ears of potential buyers and sponsors only.

There is no live audience. It is presented as a man trying to talk a father (Don Quinn) into the best college for his son to attend.

While on their way to Mrs. Foster's dinner party, the Hall's see a friendly lost dog, who follows them. Since they can't take a stray to the dinner party, they knock on every door in the neighborhood to locate the owner. By the time they meet Mr. Wellman, they are a half hour late, and Mrs. Foster has torn up her endowment check and retired to her room. Victoria reminds William about the time they were getting ready for the Embassy Ball, which leads to his flashback. On meeting Mrs. Foster, she reveals that she is upset not only because of the cancelled dinner party, but because her dog is lost. William explains that the lost dog is the reason that they are late, and whistles to it. Mrs. Foster increases her endowment to include the reward for finding her dog.

Announcer: Ken Carpenter

William has a cold, so Victoria orders him bedrest and leaves to go to the drugstore. William begins to worry when she doesn't return. Mr. Maryweather visits and plays a record of Victoria from the Jr. Talent Show that Mrs. Maryweather is extremely jealous of. As Mr. Maryweather talks, William has a flashback of eavesdropping on Ian as he gave Victoria unasked advice. Victoria breaks into his flashback while taking his temperature, and admits that she got by a traffic cop, which is what held her up. On explanation, she forgot to carry her drivers license, ran through a stop sign, sped, and hit a fire hydrant because she wanted to miss the bicycles in front of the drug store. After Mr. Maryweather leaves they have a laugh over the record that he left.

Directed by Nat Wolf

Announcer: Ken Carpenter

It's the end of the semester and Dr. and Mrs. Hall discuss their summer plans. Mike Kander arrives, and asks Dr. Hall about his father, who came to America from abroad. Mike would like to enroll his father as a freshman. After the prom, they bring Abel Kander home for a midnight snack. Abel seems somewhat upset by his son's offer to enroll him, and decides the next day, and Abel is not going to stand in his son's way. Dr. Hall informs Abel of how proud Mike is of his father, which enlightens Abel. Abel makes a speech at Mike's bachelor party. Dr. Hall gives Abel Kander an honorary degree as Doctor of Humanity.
