TIP O' THE MORNING: A Broadway "Halls of Ivy" is being plotted, with the Colmans getting first chance at the leading roles.

Besides the music of Jerome Kern, the new movie version of "Show Boat" has plenty of good things—among them the singing of Howard Keel, William Warfield, and Kathryn Grayson; the dancing of Marge and Gower Champion; and vivid Technicolor production. The film was previewed Tuesday at the Capitol theater by theater operators, leaders in Madison's musical life, and the press.

One thing stands out above all others—the way in which the picture stays with the love story of Magnolia Hawks, daughter of the Cotton Blossom show boat's owner, and Gaylord Ravenal, handsome river gambler, instead of wandering about in utter disregard of the plot, as do most musicals.

Miss Grayson is a lovely Magnolia, with voice to match, and Keel plays the handsome gambler with considerable credibility. Ava Gardner is Julie, the actress who starts downward because of a sailor's jealousy. Her singing of "My Bill" is one of the high points of picture, largely because of its sincerity—something which is missing in her other songs.

Warfield's beautiful bass voice is just right for "Ol' Man River," and the "Champions" dancing is something to remember.

Joe E. Brown and Agnes Moorehead contribute the film's few laughs in their roles as Capt. Andy and his wife, Parthy.

One can quarrel seriously with only two points in the production—the beginning, which over-glamorizes the show boat in lush Hollywood style, and the final scene, which has the time-wrecked Julie sobbing over the show boat's departure.

LOOKING AHEAD: "Show Boat" will be one of the Capitol theater's top summer attractions, Manager Fred Reeth said Tuesday. Others on the schedule are: "Appointment for Danger," with Alan Ladd, Phyllis Calvert, and Jan Sterling; "Strangers on a Train," Alfred Hitchcock thriller with Farley Granger, Robert Walker, and Ruth Roman; "Ft. Worth," they meet in Paris end of summer. John Ford's daughter, Barbara, briefly wed to Bob Walker, has gone to work as a film cutter at Republic. No better way to learn the movie business—especially if she wants to wind up as a director, like her famous Poppa.

Clifton Webb, rested up and well again after his sister in Honolulu, reports for work soon at 20th-Fox. An untitled drama-NOT a "Belvedere."

Tay Garnett megaphones "The Korean Story" with Bob Mitchum top-lining an important male cast. Starts almost immediately and at least two thirds will be filmed on Korean soil.
