OPS Agents Find 355 Violators in 3 State

CHICAGO—(UP)—The regional Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said Tuesday that its investigators had found 355 separate violations of OPS regulations in visits to 301 slaughterhouses and wholesale meat establishments in the Illinois-Indiana-Wisconsin region between Sept. 25 and Oct. 23.

The OPS said that 122 violators had been found, and 13 injunction proceedings begun, but no criminal actions were filed.

Utah Indians Await First Checks in Land Suit Claim

FT. DUCESNE, Utah—(UP)—There was joy Tuesday night in the scattered huts and hogans of the 1,000,000-acre Unithat-Ouay Indian reservation in eastern Utah.

The 1679 members of the Unithat, White River, and Uncomphagre tribes of the Ute band of Indians today start collecting from the $31,938,673 land claim suit they recently won from the United States government.

The settlement, largest Uncle Sam has ever made on his Redskin charges, is in payment for lands now rich in agriculture, forests, oil and shale—in eastern Colorado that Whites took in an 1880 treaty.

The multi-million-dollar payment will be doled out carefully to the Utes, whose average family income has been $300 a year.

Congressional—approved regulations provide that only one third of it goes to the Indians during the next three years. What happens after that depends on how wisely the money is used.

About $15,000,000 eventually will go to Utes still living in southern Colorado—the 900 members of the Ignacio, Ute Mountain and Towango tribes around Durango. They haven't figured out yet how and when they want it.

But the Utah-dwelling Utes, with two college-educated tribesmen as planning chairmen, have made their preparations carefully.

Out of the original third of their $17,000,000 they will get—during the next few months—$4,000,000 for tribe-wide benefits in land improvements, reclamation work, livestock, machinery and adult education.

Most of the excitement, however, centers on today's cash payments of up to $1,000 for each brave, squaw, and papoose.

TIP O' THE MORNING: A new religious program sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League will start Dec. 9 on WIBA.

University of Wisconsin students from Madison, Waunakee, Milwaukee, Chicago, and Wauwatosa will be featured entertainers at the Kickoff Ball on Nov. 9 and the Campa on Nov. 10 in the Memorial Union.

The students were first-place winners in last week's third annual Talent Search on the campus. They will receive trophies at the dances.

Winners in their respective classes were:
Mark Silber, Milwaukee, pantomimist (dorms); Caryl Weiss, Chicago, singer (organized independent houses); Sally Sibbald, Wauwatosa, singer (sororities and fraternities), and a barbershop quartet composed of Wayne Kellner, Richard DeMars, and Jerome Goodrich, Madison, and John Bieherstein, Waunakee (private houses and Madison residents).

Second-place winners in the contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Union dance committee were:
Diane Dahl, Bloomer, and Myra Fierek, Wittenberg, vocal duo (dorms); Anne Tziritas, Chicago, singer (organized independent houses); Richard Fjeldheim and Dale Reisdad, Rib Lake, vocal duo (sororities and fraternities), and Chuck Skump, Madison, folk singer tied with Orrin Nehls, Juneau, baritone (private houses and Madison residents).

MUSIC: A Madison student, Dick Johnson, has been selected as a member of the Arizona State College Symphony orchestra at Tempe, Ariz. Prof. Charles O. Bowers will conduct the group in its first concert next month.

Prof. Leo Steffens of the University of Wisconsin music school and George Szpalski, former Madison violinist, gave a recital Sunday night in the Universalist church at Wausau, Spinalist, long a teacher here and later a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, now teaches at Wausau and coaches the violin section of that city's civic orchestra.

ART: Paintings by three University of Wisconsin faculty members will be shown in the 60th annual American exhibition of oil paintings and sculptures at the Art Institute of Chicago from Oct. 25 through Dec. 16.

Only 177 works were invited to the show. The campus painters are Alfred Sessler, with "Pitchman," an oil on canvas by Maurice W. Berger, Milwaukee; John Wilde, with "Myself in the Studio Working from Nature," lent by Gimbel brothers, Milwaukee, and Santos Zingale, "Playthings in Show Window," also lent by Gimbel.

PLAYERS: Gertrude Johnson, Blancher Theobom, the Met opera singer, is here for the first time since she worked in "The Great Caruso." She'll sing the title role of "Carmen" with the San Francisco Opera Co. Nov. 4. Just a few years ago, Blancher was taking dictation as a stenographer for a steel executive in Canton, O.

Leona Massina, currently in "Androcles and the Lion," and formerly of the N. Y. stage, has been signed by American Pictures for a lead in "Invasion, U. S. A." It starts shooting next month. Same company puts "Sword of Venus" for which Lex Barker is still being sought) into production about the same time.

The Jimmy Stewarts are due from their Honolulu siesta any minute—and Jimmy goes right into "Carbine Williams" at Metro. This, in case you haven't heard, is the life-story of David M. Williams, who invented the carbine rifle. For a while it was tagged "The Man With a Gun." There's a slim chance Stewart may be borrowed for one of the star spots in "Come Back, Little Sheba," which Hal Wallis puts into work at roughly the same time. However, Richard Thorpe, who'll direct "Carbine," is already testing actors to support Jimmy in this opus.

Title of Audie Murphy's next has been changed from "Hair-Trigger Kid" to "The Texas Man."

Wayne Wolfert, in television at Louisville, Ky.; Al Blomquist, planning trip to Sweden for research in the theater; Felix Wasserman, assistant headmaster at Windsor Mountain School for Boys, Lenox, Mass.; Edna Liessmann, teaching at Two Rivers.

Film Fare: Edith Gwynn, State Journal correspondent, reports from Hollywood "Topsy and Eva," set to be Betty Hutton's next at Paramount, is the life story of famed stage team, the Duncan sisters—and has nothing to do with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Dinah Shore may be playing Eva to Betty's Topsy and what wonderful fun and singing THAT would be! This one should emerge with authenticity. Dick Bare, who wrote the story will help produce, is a cousin of the Duncan sisters and broke into show business through their efforts.

Sorry to learn that James Dunn, one-time Academy Award winner, has filed a bankruptcy petition in N.Y. He's just as fine an actor as always and has been proving it on many a video drama. Hollywood is the loser if it doesn't bring him back.

Blanche Theobom, the Met opera singer, is here for the first time since she worked in "The Great Caruso." She'll sing the title role of "Carmen" with the San Francisco Opera Co. Nov. 4. Just a few years ago, Blancher was taking dictation as a stenographer for a steel executive in Canton, O.

Title of Audie Murphy's next has been changed from "Hair-Trigger Kid" to "The Texas Man."

Wayne Wolfert, in television at Louisville, Ky.; Al Blomquist, planning trip to Sweden for research in the theater; Felix Wasserman, assistant headmaster at Windsor Mountain School for Boys, Lenox, Mass.; Edna Liessmann, teaching at Two Rivers.

Film Fare: Edith Gwynn, State Journal correspondent, reports from Hollywood "Topsy and Eva," set to be Betty Hutton's next at Paramount, is the life story of famed stage team, the Duncan sisters—and has nothing to do with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Dinah Shore may be playing Eva to Betty's Topsy and what wonderful fun and singing THAT would be! This one should emerge with authenticity. Dick Bare, who wrote the story will help produce, is a cousin of the Duncan sisters and broke into show business through their efforts.

Sorry to learn that James Dunn, one-time Academy Award winner, has filed a bankruptcy petition in N.Y. He's just as fine an actor as always and has been proving it on many a video drama. Hollywood is the loser if it doesn't bring him back.

Blanche Theobom, the Met opera singer, is here for the first time since she worked in "The Great Caruso." She'll sing the title role of "Carmen" with the San Francisco Opera Co. Nov. 4. Just a few years ago, Blancher was taking dictation as a stenographer for a steel executive in Canton, O.

Leona Massina, currently in "Androcles and the Lion," and formerly of the N. Y. stage, has been signed by American Pictures for a lead in "Invasion, U. S. A." It starts shooting next month. Same company puts "Sword of Venus" for which Lex Barker is still being sought) into production about the same time.
