

TIP O' THE MORNING: Singer Gisele MacKenzie of the Mario Lanza show and "Club 15" is due for a big publicity buildup—and if a girl ever earned it, she's the one.

ONE of the most fantastic stories to come out of Tin Pan Alley in years is the one behind the song "Snowflakes," just recorded by Guy Lombardo and Evelyn Knight.

"The author," Dave Alber writes from New York, "is a 9-year-old Brooklyn schoolgirl, Marjorie Kurtz, who neither plays an instrument nor reads music. Yet, as a result of having 'made up' this song, the fourth grade girl stands a good chance of hitting a $30,000 jackpot when the final results are all in.

Marjorie awoke one morning and started to write some words on a piece of paper. Her father, an insurance broker, learned from her that she had dreamed of snowflakes during the hot May night and that a tune and a rhyme had invaded her mind. As any doting father would do, Marjorie's father wrote the words, and she sang them to him.

"But not Marjorie. A few days later she bragged to her aunt, Sandra Kent, a singer, that she had 'made up' a song. Aunt Sandra patronizingly asked her to sing it, and when Marjorie had finished, her aunt copied down the music and lyrics and commented that it sounded wonderful.

Consequently, the song was submitted to CBS' 'Songs for Sale' and on Nov. 17 Marjorie's tune won the unanimous vote of judges Xavier Cugat, Morey Amsterdam, and Louis Alter.

"A few nights later, Marjorie's Aunt Sandra went to the Roosevelt Grill and told Guy Lombardo the tale of her 9-year-old niece's song having won 'Songs for Sale.' Lombardo asked her to demonstrate it, which she did from the Grill's bandstand. Twice more during the evening Lombardo had her play the song, each time noting an enthusiastic public response.

"Before the night was over, Lombardo had acquired publishing rights to the tune, and had phoned Milt Mackmill, president of Decca Records, who was in California, telling him he wanted to wax the tune at once.

"On Friday, Nov. 23, Lombardo and Evelyn Knight recorded it, and so pleasing were the results that Decca ordered an unprecedented 200,000 first pressing.

"The song, a waltz, contains no words of more than two syllables, and only 10 of those."

TODAY'S QUOTE: Asked about the basic difference between radio and television, Gracie Allen replied (as quoted in TV Show magazine):

"I think a television set is certainly more interesting to watch than a radio."

CLASSICAL HOUR: The "Classical Hour," presented on WKOW by the Madison Free library, has returned to its old time-period, 9 p. m. Sundays.

"By accident, we found out how popular the program is a few Saturdays ago," said Helen Jansky of the library staff, "when 5 minutes were clipped off the beginning of the program.

"Such a flood of calls came through that the station telephones were jammed.

"You may not have as many listeners as Jack Benny," said Manager Mike Henry, "but they are a lot more vociferous."

TOP TUNES: "Cry" was the most popular song on Madison automatic phonographs last week, a compilation based on Leon Peterson's "The Big Eight" on WISC and "Madison Hit Parade" on WFOV shows.

Other favorite tunes, in order, were: "Down Yonder," "Because of You," "Snowflake," "Shrimp Boats," "Sin" and "Cold, Cold Heart," tied, "Little White Cloud That Cried" and "I Don't Care," tied, "Undecided" and "Hey, Good Lookin'," tied.

MAIL BAG: This letter comes from Edgar Bergen:

"Dear Bill: 'Charlie McCarthy and I have just launched 'Operations Santa Claus.' We are going to fly to army and navy hospitals all over the nation commencing Dec. 13 to bring Christmas to the bed-sides of our heroic war wounded.

"As you know, many of these men can't get home to their families during the holiday season. Others, unfortunately, are entirely without family ties. That is why Charlie and I want to prove to these brave men that all America is their family out of gratitude for the great sacrifices they have made in our behalf.

"'Operations Santa Claus' will not only bring entertainment to the wounded in hospitals, but also Christmas gifts. We are flying a whole plane-load of presents to them. However, even a plane-load of gifts won't take us to all the bed-sides in all the hospitals where we should visit.

"That is where you can help, by telling your readers about 'Operations Santa Claus.' In that way they, too, can share in the great joy and genuine privilege of providing a real Christmas for hospitalized GIs. It isn't so important how much they send or what their gifts may cost, just so long as they send something. Gifts should carry the names and addresses on an enclosed greeting of each donor, so that the boys can acknowledge them. All packages should be addressed:

"Edgar Bergen's Operations Santa Claus, care CBS, Hollywood, Calif.

"Please keep Charlie and me flying and the gifts blanketed with planes bearing gifts. So long as there are gifts, we'll keep going. You and your readers can make that possible.

"Sincerely, "Edgar Bergen."

'Light' Fingered Railman Admits Numerous Thefts

Trapped by a chemical substance on a decoy whiskey bottle, Orlando J. Hutzler, 29, La Crosse bagman, pleaded guilty in Madison federal court Tuesday to thefts of numerous articles from travelers' suitcases.

Absence of any previous criminal record and an excellent five-year army record in World War II, including 18 months' fighting in New Guinea and the Philippines, won Hutzler leniency from Judge Patrick T. Stone.

He was granted two years' probation and a suspended one year sentence and fined $50.

Previously a brakeman for five years, Hutzler was promoted last April to bagman on the C. & N. and Q. run between La Crosse and Savannah, Ill., U. S. Atty. Thomas E. Fairchild told the court.

Railroad detectives, investigating a long list of complaints by baggage owners, placed the "treated" bottle of whiskey in a decoy suitcase and checked it to Savannah.

Futler claimed he bought the whiskey, which was found on his person when he was arrested at Savannah, but confessed when his hands, under ultra-violet light, showed distinct luminosity.

In addition to a fishing rod and reel, two bottles of whiskey and a wrist watch named in the information warrant, Hutzler's pilferings included seven watches, a target pistol valued at $20 and at least 25 miscellaneous items of small value, Fairchild said.

Hutzler had sold four of the watches and other valuables to fellow employees and friends. All have been recovered except a few edible articles that had been "consumed," Fairchild said.
