

1949-1950 Leave It to Joan

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7/4/1949   | Premier episode: Joan Davis returns as a daydreaming department store salesgirl, a source of bewilderment to her superiors and to her Pops, a police officer; Includes this scene: Joan is mistaken for a shoplifter and tossed in jail where she says, "It's fun being here. You meet so many movie stars."                                         | Los Angeles Evening Citizen News (Hollywood); The Chico Enterprise-Record (Chico, CA) |
| 7/11/1949  | Joan Davis is assigned to exchange department in store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | The Courier-Journal (Louisville)                                                      |
| 7/18/1949  | Joan Davis is given a few weeks to live in a medical x-ray mixup.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dayton Daily News (Dayton, OH)                                                        |
| 7/25/1949  | Joan Davis captures two department store burglars                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dayton Daily News (Dayton, OH)                                                        |
| 8/1/1949   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 8/8/1949   | There's a picnic for Willock's department store employees and Joan manages to get lost on a treasure hunt on Catalina Island.                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | The Miami News                                                                        |
| 8/15/1949  | Joan Davis is assigned to the book department where famous author is autographing books.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | The Courier-Journal (Louisville)                                                      |
| 8/22/1949  | Joan Davis turns Cupid in order to protect a trousseau sale at Willock's dept. store.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | The Miami News                                                                        |
| 8/26/1949  | Switches to Fridays                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                       |
| 9/2/1949   | Joan Davis gets stray dog in lost and found.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | The Courier-Journal (Louisville)                                                      |
| 9/9/1949   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 9/16/1949  | Adventures with a purse snatcher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | The Birmingham News                                                                   |
| 9/23/1949  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 9/30/1949  | Joan Davis has to take care of Boss Willock's nephew.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | The Courier-Journal (Louisville)                                                      |
| 10/7/1949  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 10/14/1949 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 10/21/1949 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 10/28/1949 | Leave it to Joan casts the big-hearted comedy star as organizer of a neighborhood football team playing in uniforms charged to her boss.                                                                                                                                                                                                             | The Tampa Times                                                                       |
| 11/4/1949  | Joan continues her madcap adventures as the scatter-brained sales girl at Willock's Department store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Globe-Gazette (Mason City, IA)                                                        |
| 11/11/1949 | Joan, of course, means Joan Davis, who plays the apt of a willy-nilly salesgirl.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | The Miami News                                                                        |
| 11/18/1949 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 11/25/1949 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 12/2/1949  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 12/9/1949  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 12/16/1949 | Through her own laugh-provoking deeds and misdeeds as a salesgirl, Joan manages to save the store from complete demolition during the Christmas rush; With the Yuletide getting closer and closer, Joan Davis, who plays the hilarious salesgirl in Willock's Department Store, tonight becomes less and less an asset to Mr. hackaday, the manager. | The Tampa Times; The Bakersfield Californian (Bakersfield)                            |
| 12/23/1949 | With the Christmas rush on Joanie has plenty to do at Willock's department store.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | The Miami News                                                                        |
| 12/30/1949 | For more laughs over the same station, listen to Joan Davis as a salesgirl during the after-Christmas exchanges. Bet this is a panic!                                                                                                                                                                                                                | The Atlanta Constitution                                                              |
| 1/6/1950   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 1/13/1950  | Joan Davis escorts two visitors through Willock's department store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | The Miami News                                                                        |
| 1/20/1950  | Al Jolson visits "Joan Davis" department store, but of course Joanie knows it isn't Al for she would know Larry Parks face anywhere.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Long Beach Press-Telegram (Long Beach, CA)                                            |
| 1/27/1950  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| 2/3/1950   | Steve Allen drops in for a visit with Joan Davis; Art Linkletter visits Joan Davis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Mirror News (Los Angeles); Dayton Daily News (Dayton, OH)                             |

1949-1950 Leave It to Joan

|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2/10/1950 | Joan Davis has few sales but plenty of laughs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Globe-Gazette (Mason City, IA)                                                    |
| 2/17/1950 | Garry Moore thinks Joan Davis is the manager of Willock's Department Store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Los Angeles Evening Citizen News                                                  |
| 2/24/1950 | There's more that gets across the counter at Willock's Department store tonight besides merchandise when Joan Davis goes into action                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | The Miami News                                                                    |
| 3/3/1950  | Pops Davis fears he's not on the police promotion list and doesn't want to talk to his old friend the commissioner, about it, so Joan takes over to do what she can; Joan Davis helps Pops Davis when he fears he is not on the police promotion list; finale"Up for Parole," stories of prison case histories, will make its debut over CBS radio tonight as the replacement for the departed Joan Davis comedy. The program is designed to show how carefully parole boards screen and rescreen applicants and to demonstrate the price of unthinking social and vocational rejections which forces many paroles back into crime. | The Miami News; Dayton Daily News (Dayton, OH)The Evening Sun (Baltimore) |
| 7/3/1950  | Joan Davis returns to role as salesgirl in department store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | The Courier-Journal (Louisville)                                                  |
| 7/10/1950 | Appearing in support of Joan Davis who returned last week are Mary Jane Croft, Gerald Mohr, Willard Waterman and Joseph Kearns; Joan Flattens Her Boss' Ambitions                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | The Miami Herald; The Boston Globe                                                |
| 7/17/1950 | Joanie finds a series of anonymous love letters and tries to trace the sender                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | The Miami News                                                                    |
| 7/24/1950 | With Willock's and Tracy's department stores putting on big Western promotions, Joan uses her unique talent for trouble to hogtie her own store's efforts; Willard Waterman in his radio role as Simon Hackaday, department store manager                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | The Miami News; The Tampa Times                                                   |
| 7/31/1950 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |
| 8/7/1950  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |
| 8/14/1950 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |
| 8/21/1950 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |
| 8/28/1950 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                   |