

How to Copy the DVDs

To copy the DVDs without truncating the long file names, a program such as Nero or Toast is recommended. Whatever program is used, set the image file to be created at the root level of the drive you're using (the topmost level), e.g., Drive C:, rather than the common default of C:/Documents and Settings/username/desktop